

Coastal Sciences Graduate Fellowship

in Support of

Diversity

Location

The University of Southern Mississippi

Gulf Coast Research Laboratory

Ocean Springs, Miss.

Salary

$2,050/month (M.S.) $2,300/month (Ph.D.)

Salary increases by $100/month (M.S.) or $150/month (Ph.D.) when the student advances to candidacy.

Additional benefits include a tuition waiver and health insurance.

Application deadline

January 15
Fall admission to the graduate program

The Department of Coastal Sciences in The University of Southern Mississippi's School of Ocean Science and Engineering is pleased to announce the availability of graduate fellowships in support of diversity to prospective students seeking an M.S. or Ph.D. degree. These fellowships are awarded competitively and are intended to support the recruitment of graduate students from historically underrepresented groups in coastal and marine science who demonstrate scholarly promise. Additional information on the Department of Coastal Sciences fa2ctrnrd

9 mausm.edu/graduate-programs/coastal-sciences.php. Candidates must contact potential faculty advisors in the Division of Coastal Sciences to discuss their research and educational interests and must identify a faculty sponsor prior to submitting a fellowship application. The Graduate School application fee for students applying to the Coastal Sciences Graduate Fellowship in Support of Diversity will be waived if you email coastal.sciences@usm.edu to initiate your application fee waiver before you apply. Mississippi residents who fall in historically underrepresented groups in coastal and marine science are particularly (Application) in Structions

Contact Us Today!

coastal.sciences@usm.edu 228.818.8887 usm.edu/ocean

